Maximise billing capacity

Perci saves each Rehabilitation Consultant an average 1 hour per day, which can be used to increase billing capacity. This could not only boost revenue, but also allow consultants to focus less on administrative burdens and more on client care.

Increase consistency

Increase consistency of notes across your Rehabilitation Consultants. By maintaining a consistent case notes format, consultants can more easily track client progress and collaborate effectively, ultimately leading to better health outcomes.

Improve compliance

Case notes are typically highly abbreviated, and sometimes important points are missed due to time pressures, which can lead to compliance issues. Automated note-taking typically provides much greater detail in case notes, assisting with compliance.

Enhance staff wellbeing

Automate admin tasks with Perci to ease staff workload; reducing the risk of burnout, improving overall wellbeing and enhancing staff retention. This allows your team to focus on high value work – supporting better outcomes for both your business and your clients.

Perci fosters a culture of accountability and continuous improvement, where everyone is committed to achieving the highest standards of care.

Designed by health professionals to help you save time, so rehab consultants can prioritise their clients needs and own wellbeing.

Perci can help document:

- Meetings
- Phone calls
- Case conferences
- RTW plans

Customer Testimonial

Chantelle Wood Australian Rehabilitation Counsellor of the Year 2024

Perci has changed my working life, so much so, I didn't buy a Remarkable on the weekend which I have thought about doing for years in that it would be using less paper! I am able to document my patient sessions and workplace meetings effortlessly. The generated summaries and action points are intuitive and through the app I can easily access previous notes in seconds. I feel the most efficient I ever have as a healthcare professional and wish Perci was invented 10 years ago when I started. I feel effortlessly organised in managing my busy caseload while knowing the case notes are secure. I couldn't imagine being without Perci now!
